ABOUT US

The family day care scheme was established by twin Educators Coral and Ruby. Our business will operate under the trading name Family Day Care Providers C & R Cowling-Scaife. We created the family day care scheme to provide parents with a wonderful, safe secure service which allows children to obtain quality childcare in small groups in the home based environment.

Family Day Care Providers C & R Cowling-Scaife scheme maintains high quality care; we provide developmentally appropriate activities and experiences to enhance every area of development, all within a small group, home environment. Family Day Care Educators provide quality Home Based Childcare in accordance with the National Law, National Standards and National Quality Framework.

WHAT IS FAMILY DAY CARE

Family day care is a unique, home-based childcare service providing quality care for children in the own home of experienced and registered family day care educators, supported by Family day Care Providers C & R Cowling-Scaife. Educators will or have been carefully selected and supervised, and operate under the National Law, National Standards and National Quality Framework for Family Day Care. Educators are registered with Family Day Care Providers C & R Cowling-Scaife to care for a maximum of 4 children under school age or 7 children in total including school age children (less than 12 years of age). Child placements with educators are organised and supported by the Family Day Care Co-ordination Unit. Children aged between the age of 6 weeks and 12 years are nurtured in a small group setting and through the educator's individualised programming are encouraged to further develop their skills and knowledge.

Becoming an educator with Family Day Care Providers C & R Cowling-Scaife means that whilst you're part of a national, leading, progressive team of professionals, you're also building your own business and experiencing a degree of autonomy, flexibility and support. While you will receive training, support and guidance in setting up and maintaining a successful business, you are ultimately responsible for its running and ongoing administration, – similar to any other small business operator. However, flexibility, convenience and independence are your greatest rewards in running your own business from home.

PRACTICAL CONSIDERATIONS BEFORE OFFERING FAMILY DAY CARE IN YOUR HOME

There are many reasons people decide to become a Family Day provider. Some find that caring for other children is a good way to provide playmates and companionship for their own children. Others simply enjoy the laughter and excitement that children bring to their homes. Some need to add to their income without having to work outside of the home, others may have started by offering to care for the child of a neighbour.

Before you decide to care for children in your home, you should consider some practical things very seriously. If you are aware of these factors before you begin to offer day care, the chances that you will enjoy your venture will be greater.

Maintaining Quality Care

Family Day Care Educators are required to provide and maintain a quality childcare service in a safe, healthy, nurturing, friendly home environment. This includes adhering to,

- Current State Regulations,
- Occupational Health and Safety Legislation,
- Scheme policies & procedures It also involves:
- Participating in National Framework requirements
- Participating in ongoing professional development often outside the hours of their service operation (the hours an educator chooses to work) and
- Providing parents with ongoing information about their child's daily activities.

Educators must fulfil all the administrative and business requirements of a self-employed person, and ensure that records are retained in accordance with the time frames and requirements set out in the National Regulations.

Educators are also required to maintain a safe workplace at all times. This may include developing and completing a daily hazard management check before children come into care and tending to any safety issues around the home promptly.

The support and assistance of the educator's family members in meeting these requirements and providing a professional service is also required.

Having other people's children in your home also means:

- Providing an environment that recognises and operates in a safe & respectful manner.
- Considering the needs of your family and of the families and children in care.
- Maintaining confidentiality
- Recognising that it is more than 'just babysitting'. Educators need to plan a programme to meet the individual child's needs and interests.
- The Educator is solely responsible for the children at all times, and cannot delegate this responsibility to any other household members.

Roles and Responsibilities of the Educator's Family

As the words 'Family Day Care' indicate, caring for children in your home involves the whole family. If you have a partner, children, or other family members living in your house, you should, as a family, talk over your plans before starting, because members of the Educator's family play an important role in the children's experience.

While your family members play an important role in the provision of your service it is important to remember that you are the registered Educator. This means that you are responsible for making decisions about the provision of care, the day to day caring duties such as toileting, administering medication, accepting fees and physically receiving children into care and returning them back to their parents in the afternoon. Your family members may wish to become involved by participating in craft, reading stories, playing games etc For Family Day Care services to be successful, it is important that the family is supportive.

Families and relatives should:

- Assist with the maintenance of the home, to ensure compliance with O.H. & S. Legislation and Scheme policy requirements.
- Adhere to all State Regulations and Scheme policies such as non-smoking at all times and alcohol/drug free home whilst children are in care.
- Interact in a positive manner with children and their families.

- Ensure that any family member, other than the Educator, is never left alone with a child.
- Maintain confidentiality at all times.
- Ensure that only child appropriate TV programs, videos, games and books are accessible to FDC children.
- Recognise the need for privacy if the Educator is discussing issues with staff and/or parents.
- Ensure the use of non-offensive language and tone of voice at all times.
- Recognise that caring for children is not 'just playing' and that the Educator needs time to plan and program
- Treat staff, parents and children with respect.
- Assist the Educator to provide and maintain quality childcare in a safe, nurturing, and friendly environment.
- Support the Educator to attend ongoing professional development

The provision of FDC will impact on all family members. It is important to note that if family members / residents are not able to comply with the guidelines, it may have a negative impact on the Educator's registration.

YOURSELF

Being a Family Day Educator is a responsible job. Before deciding to offer day care for children in your home, you should ask yourself a number of questions which will help you determine if family day care is really for you.

Ask yourself

- Do I like and know enough about children?
- Can I stay with children for long periods of time?
- Can I give each child the affection, security and protection he or she needs?
- Do I understand and respect the children and their families?
- Do I have the physical strength and stamina that will be needed?
- Can I handle accidents and emergencies calmly and efficiently?
- Am I able to give children the continuity of care they need?
- How do I feel about parents leaving the care of their child to someone else?

Legal and business matters

While family day care is not as complex as running a large business, you should be considering some legal matters carefully. These involve insurance, taxes, budgeting and licensing. All, when taken care of properly, are for your direct benefit, and serve to protect you from unnecessary expense and liability. All childcare in this state is subject to licensing with the State Government. The Office Early Childhood Education and Care employs advisory personnel who are able to advise and assist with all regulation matters.

Insurance

One of the first things you may have to think about is insurance coverage of your home. Children are subject to a wide range of injuries, and while this type of insurance can be expensive, it may serve to protect you and the children.

Each Educator must take out Liability Insurance (including Public Liability and Professional Indemnity).

The National Family Day Care Council (Aust) Inc. (NFDCCA) has a comprehensive insurance plan designed specifically for the unique needs of Family Day Care.

Our environments are filled with order which is essential for a child to feel secure within their environment, to build on existing experiences, open spaces free from clutter, where every material is considered for its purpose, every corner is ever-evolving to encourage children to be drawn deeply into their interests.

Approach

Every child brings with them deep curiosity and potential and this innate curiosity drives their interest to understand their world and their place within it. Children are allowed to develop freely, through social collaboration, working in groups, where each child is an equal participant, having their thoughts and questions valued they will feel connected to everything and are naturally caring to each other and the world around them. We will respond to children's ideas and play and use intentional teaching to scaffold and extend each child's learning. Children have the freedom to follow their interests, and activities will be designed to support their natural development therefore giving children power to educate themselves through their own investigations.

COMMUNICATION

Parents/guardians and educators are encouraged to work together to ensure children are receiving the best possible care in Family Day Care. One of the most important aspects is open, honest and sensitive communication between both parties. Each has a responsibility to respect the other, which can be achieved by regular informal exchanges of information. It is both the educators and parent's/guardian's responsibility to keep each other "up to date" with information relating to the children, eg, the children's health, whether the children have slept well or are unhappy for a particular reason. To assist in making the child care placement a positive experience, educators need to be aware of children's daily routines and any issues relating to their care. Parents/guardians also need to know of their children's day in Family Day Care. Caring for children is both satisfying and extremely demanding. A sharing of satisfaction in children's progress and a word of praise or appreciation is valued and can lighten the day.

Some specifics about communicating with parents

1. Make your self available to parents when possible. Quick exchanges at arrival and departure times can be profitable communication periods.
2. Make parents feel comfortable about exchanging information with you. Be open and available and be aware that the environment affects communication
3. Keep records so you can report specifics to parents. A great tool for this is the Daily Record or a Communication Book
4. Develop your listening skills.
5. Regard communication as a two way street.

MANAGING GRIEVANCES AND COMPLAINTS

A 'grievance' shall be defined as a wrong, real or imagined, considered as grounds for complaint which can potentially be resolved.

A 'complaint' shall be defined as an expression of dissatisfaction to an authority on or about an offender or offence.

- To ensure the scheme's grievance/complaint procedures are accessible to all participants including, families, educators and staff.
- To acknowledge the right of all parties to confidentiality and respect.
- This Policy is based on the values held by the scheme. Complaints, grievances and feedback are seen as opportunities for the organisation and its employees to learn and to improve its services. The learning that has occurred through any use of this Policy and Procedure should be documented and shared to encourage an open approach to continuous improvement of services.

Principles of managing grievances and complaints

Where this occurs most grievances/complaints may be settled amicably between the parties involved. If however this does not occur the following steps should be followed.

All educators and families have free and open access to the grievance and complaints process.

Grievances and complaints are best resolved as close to the source as possible. The process is impartial, fair, and consultative and is undertaken in a cooperative and confidential manner. (If anonymity is requested)

Those involved are encouraged to reach a fair and mutually acceptable resolution. Any person involved in a grievance or complaint will not be disadvantaged or victimised as a consequence of raising such a matter.

Grievances and complaints should be raised in a private and quiet manner away from other adults, from all children and families.

In all instances the issue of concern is raised as early as possible and directly with the individual/s involved.

Such discussions about issues of concern should be documented.

Educators and coordination unit have a right to seek assistance from a support person, and have them as an observer in discussions, when responding to a complaint about them.

Discussing issues as they arise provides a positive opportunity to gather a range of views about the schemes practices and contributions to improving the service.

Any person bringing a complaint or grievance or feedback in relation to this Policy must be able to substantiate it.

If the issue is not resolved, contact the licensee and request further discussion on the issue. The licensee may choose to mediate between yourself and the other party or refer the matter to a mediator.

Where the grievance is verbally brought to the attention of the Scheme without the Educators knowledge, the scheme will seek written permission from the client to contact the Educator and advise them of the issue. This will enable both parties to work out a possible solution to the issues raised.

The FDC office will report back to both parties on the outcome of the investigation. Records will be kept of the process, progress and outcome of the investigation and any actions taken.

The FDC office will keep both parties advised on the progress of the investigation.

If the issue is not resolved, contact the licensee and request further discussion on the issue.

The licensee may choose to mediate between yourself and the other party or refer the matter to a mediator.

Where the grievance is verbally brought to the attention of the Scheme without the complainant/s knowledge, the scheme will seek written permission from the client to contact the complainant/s and advise them of the issue. This will enable both parties to work out a possible solution to the issues raised.

If the matter is still unresolved the parent can take their concerns to the authorised relevant resource officer from The Department of Communities and or National Child Care Accreditation Council for further information.

Managing complaints or concerns from Staff

If the matter cannot be resolved it may be referred to the Australian Industrial Commission, State Department of Communities or other relevant authority.

Develop and implement strategies to address co-ordinator and Educator concerns with regard to placement of child and family needs.

Settlement procedures

Between the Scheme and the Educator

The issues of concern are identified. The Co-ordinator should clarify which sections of the regulation (if any) are being breached and/or what the impact of the Educators care or facilities would have on the care of the children and/or the families of the children being cared for by the Educator.

The Co-ordinator should consult with the other co-ordinators and the licensee about the process to address the issues at this stage. The Educators right of confidentiality needs to be considered when selecting the licensee's representative so is nominated to manage the issue. The Educator should also have the opportunity to raise any issues regarding the conduct of the scheme with the licensee.

The Co-ordinator has an informal discussion with the Educator in which the Educator is given feedback about the areas in which their care meets or exceeds the minimum standards; the issues of concern are discussed and a plan of action, including time frames, are negotiated with the Educator. This should be documented with a copy of this documentation given to the Educator. The Licensee may need to consider any relevant correspondence.

If the issues are not resolved two co-ordinators or a co-ordinator and a representative of the licensee should conduct a formal meeting with the Educator to outline the areas of concern, outline the assistance that would be provided by the Scheme to address the issues, negotiate a plan of action, including time frames with the Educator and negotiate a time for a review of the plan of action.

The decision made at this meeting should be documented and the Educator issued with a copy of the documentation.

Consideration should also be given, in this and all subsequent steps, to any communication barriers for the Educator (are there any language, literacy or other barriers) and the need for a Educator to have access to an advocate. If the issues are not resolved the Co-ordinator and/or the Licensee should have another formal meeting with the Educator in which the plan of action is reviewed and the Educator is given clear written information about the potential outcomes of these issues not being addressed.

If the issues are not resolved the Licensee may suspend or not renew the Educators Certificate of Approval. If this occurs, the licensee must inform the Educator that they have the right to make oral and written submissions to have the decision reviewed by the Licensee with 14 days and consider any oral or written submissions of the Educator that may clarify any issues or change the decision to suspend or not renew the Certificate of Approval. As a result of this the Licensee may remove the suspension or re-issue the Certificate of Approval, remove the suspension or re-issue the Certificate of Approval and impose conditions on the Certificate of Approval, continue the suspension or non-renewal of the Certificate of Approval for a specified period to allow any outstanding issues to be addressed or cancel or not renew the Certificate of Approval.

If the Certificate of Approval has conditions imposed on it or the suspension is continued or the Certificate of Approval is cancelled or not renewed, the Licensee must within 30 days of receiving the Educators submission give written reasons for the decision.

Between an Educator/Parent and a Co-ordinator/Scheme

The Educator/Parent has the right to approach the Co-ordinator/Scheme concerned. The Educator has a right to have the grievance addressed in a sympathetic and sensitive manner. The Educator/Parent has the right to contact the coordination unit responsible for grievances and the right to expect a safe course of action.

If the issue is not resolved the coordination unit may call a conference between the two parties concerned to attempt to find a resolution or an acceptable compromise by both parties.

If still insoluble, the coordination unit will refer the issue to the Licensee for its determination. Should this arise, then both parties have the right to represent their side to Licensee.

The Licensee will have the right to the final decision.

Between a Co-ordinator/Administration Officer

The objective of this procedure is to ensure as fair as possible that grievances are resolved by negotiation and discussion between the parties.

In the first instance the employee shall attempt to resolve the grievance with the party/ies involved. If the grievance is still unresolved the matter shall be referred to the Licensee.

It is agreed that the above steps take place within 14 days.

Until the grievance is determined work shall continue normally in accordance with the custom and practice existing before the grievance arose, while discussions take place, (unless the nature of the grievance is such that a suspension from work is warranted). The Licensee will determine what constitutes a suspension.

In the event that the resolution of a grievance ends with the dismissal of an employee a reasonable reference will be advanced, dependent upon the circumstances.

In the event that dismissal is the only course of action considered by the Licensee and the employee will be given a chance to resign rather than be dismissed.

PROCEDURE FOR ENROLLING NEW FAMILIES

When you are talking with parents looking for child care it is important to have an interview. Firstly the parent must decide whether you and your home are right for the child. Secondly you must decide whether this parent is someone you can work with and whether your home would be a good place and a suitable match. It is important to take the time to discuss any concerns on either side.

1. First contact: phone call

Some basic information should be discussed in the first phone call.

Information you will need from the parent includes:

- Age/s of child/ren
- Hours and days when care is needed
- Contact details
- Any special requirements: allergies, disabilities & language.

Information parents will need from you:

- A brief description of the kind of program you have to offer.
- A little about your self
- Your location, fees and hours of operation

First impressions have a strong influence. Be well organised and confident. It may help you to teach your family members to take phone messages in a confident pleasant business like manner. Care provider who answer their phone calls with promptness, respect and willingness and in a pleasant and professional manner are more likely to give a great first impression.

2. The interview/visit

The visit should be scheduled at a time of day when you will be able to take sometime to talk with parents and allow parents to see what you normally do with the children. The success of the educator starts at the time of the interview by the way you market yourself and your service. For some parents it will be the first time they have sought care for their child/ren. They may not know what they want or perhaps don't know how to ask you for what they want. When parents meet you for the first time you can put them at ease with your manner. It's also a chance for you to see how the new child/ren fit into your group. All parents will want to see different things for example toys and equipment, Educator child interactions, style of programming, cleanliness and safety precautions and most important they will want to know about your values, discipline style and other personal information about yourself and your family. You can make them feel comfortable by showing them your educator profile book (which gives examples of photos, references, registration certificate and more). Show parents around your premises and explain where children will sleep and eat and the safety features of the house. Educators need to discover what parents want to. The best way to do this is to listen to parents. Ask them open ended questions like why, how, who and what so that the questions to those questions are more than just yes or no. This visit is a great time to discuss fees and payment procedures, paperwork for parents, policies and procedures regarding illness, fees, nutrition, etc. You need to make your expectations clear to parents before they enrol. The visit is also time for you to get to know and learn about the child/ren. Like eating, sleeping, home routine, and any other important information about the child/ren.

SETTING UP YOUR ENVIRONMENT

Your home should be set up so children can play happily with each other and by themselves.

There should be access for children to have self selection and storage for their belongings.

To facilitate good play, toys and materials should be attractively arranged and presented.

- Basic equipment and materials you will need for family day care
- Child sized table and chairs
- Individual beds for children to sleep on and cots for younger children
- A nappy change area or table
- An outdoor area
- Art and craft materials
- Props and dress up for pretend play
- Music
- Storage containers for equipment
- Books
- And assorted toys and equipment

TIPS FOR EDUCATORS

Organising your time

Care providers need to manage time effectively. Time management means setting goals for yourself. Consider these 4 rules for setting goals:

1. Choose goals that you can achieve
2. Choose realistic goals
3. Have only a few goals
4. Have a list of goals and prioritise it.

Looking after yourself

Caring for children can drain your reserves of energy and your patience. Children are constantly on the move. They chatter without stopping, ask questions and make mess. Frustration and extreme fatigue may occur when one is constantly interrupted and drained of physical and mental energy.

Some tips to distress

- Take a Break (even for 10 min) at the end of the day before throwing yourself into making meals and starting family time.
- Be satisfied with your job- have realistic expectations of the job and yourself
- Don't change parents attitudes they have a right to their own beliefs
- Balancing the activity times during the day with quiet times
- Pace yourself so that you will have energy for the children in care and your own family
- Make the day fun for yourself and the children (plan fun outings for you and the kids)
- Take regular leave/time off
