

Dr. Ann John Mampilli

Project Manager, Public Health Professional, Health Educator, Dentist

Post Graduate in Public Health having relevant work experience with varied fields of Health Promotion, research and clinical practice.

She is a University rank holder in the subjects of Orthodontics and pharmacology. Identifying improved approaches and enhanced solutions to public health challenges are activities that drive and inspire her.

She has successfully completed research on the topics of “Quality of life”, “Culture and Mental Health” and “Oral Health”.

She has completed her Master's degree as well as successfully accomplished multiple certificate programs from numerous prestigious Universities around the globe. In addition to that, she has her Master of Global Health certificate from Johns Hopkins School of public health, which is one of the best Universities in the world for Global Health. She is a recipient of the following awards: Best outgoing student, all-rounder award, debate champion, state winner for a classical dance competition, and also has acquired Karate brown belt. She was also an active member of the NGOs Help age India and Young Indians.